

U. S. LIMITS CREDIT TO CUT HIGH PRICES

Vigorous Enforcement of Lever Act Also Will Be Used Against Profiteers.

Judicious curtailment of credit by the Federal Reserve Board, and vigorous enforcement of the Lever act by the Department of Justice, will be used by the Government to keep autumn prices, down to reasonable levels. Autumn prices are largely determined at this season of the year, when buyers from every part of the country are engaged in contracting for new stocks.

"Curtailment and careful supervision of credit at this time will have a marked tendency to keep prices at a normal level," Howard E. Flegg, special assistant to the Attorney General in charge of the campaign against high prices, said today. "Correspondingly, loose credit will inflate prices."

BLAME GENEROUS CREDIT. Government officials already have admitted that it was generous credit last year that aided in the price boosting by wholesalers and others.

That the Federal Reserve Board intends to follow its announced policy of caution in this respect was indicated when the wool-growers and Western bankers conferred with members of the board in regard to financing the marketing of this season's crop. It was pointed out to the growers in effect that they would be secured every year against the action of the Lever act, and an arrangement for securing credit was made, but it is known that they got little cause to expect any Federal aid beyond this.

WILL CUT SHOE PRICES. Owing to the course adopted by the board with the wool men, and unless market conditions change, officials here expect lower prices for shoes.

A. W. Riley, special assistant to Attorney General Palmer, who has been prosecuting off-shore "Squadron," is expected to return to Washington today, but has been keeping an eye on clothing manufacturers. Many of these have been predicting high prices, and hoping that the Lever act would be temporarily nullified by court action, but two United States Supreme Court Justices, Justices Day and Pitney, have each refused to grant stays of prosecution and indictments under the act, during the week.

"Everywhere our trip across the country we have found the keenest interest in our planks," said Mrs. Park. "We are here to present our plank on child welfare, education, home and high prices, women in gainful occupations, public health and citizenship for married women. We are confidently expecting the incorporation of our entire women's platform in the Democratic party platform."

U. S. Bars Profiteering On Women's Hats; Rules They Are Necessities

Women's hats are a necessity and are not a luxury. This is the dictum issued yesterday by Howard E. Flegg, special assistant to the Attorney General to representatives of the National Retail Milliners' Association.

The ruling carried with it the intimation that no profiteering would be allowed in the sale of women's headgear.

110 CONGRESSMEN WILL TAKE JUNKET

Uncle Sam Will Provide Boat and Meals for $1.75 Per Day on Long Trip.

One hundred and nine members of Congress have arranged for passage on the army transport Great Northern to Asiatic waters, to sail July 5 from San Francisco and have kept their arrangements to themselves. Only one member of the party of 110 has practically announced his plan here.

Congressman William S. Vare, of Philadelphia, gave a statement to the boys that he intended to go and take his wife and two children. He said he felt it would place him in a better position to act on matters concerning the Orient and the Philippines.

CROWDED TO CAPACITY.

The ship will be crowded to its capacity. There was a grand rush for accommodations. The passenger list was restricted to members and their immediate families. It soon was filled. The party is in charge of Edward F. Erk, clerk to the Foreign Affairs Committee of the House. He will divulge no names on the sailing list.

Erk not only is quiet and elusive when conversing with outsiders about plans for the trip, but has refused to let the members of the party know where they are assigned on the ship. The Oriental trip of the Congressmen was suggested by representatives of the Pan-Pacific Union, with the avowed idea of bringing about better relations through better understanding among the peoples of the United States, Hawaii, the Philippines, Japan and China.

It was taken up by the House Committee on Foreign Affairs, Insular Affairs, and Territories. Chairman Porter, of the House Foreign Affairs Committee, and Representative Randall of California were its chief promoters. They will be of the party.

NO CHARGE FOR TRANSPORTATION.

It is contemplated to spend two or three days each in Hawaii, the Philippines, and from eight to ten days in Japan and in China. Many members of Congress and about seven Senators agreed to make the trip. The War Department consented to carry the visitors on the Great Northern, one of the army transports, at subsistence cost, or $1.75 per day, making no charge for transportation as the army transport was to make the trip to carry soldiers to the Philippines.

Because of the protests from the country that a junket costing the country several millions of dollars was planned, these schemes of the originators of the trip have undergone some changes and the living cost while on shipboard has been increased. The travelers, also, will be required to meet their individual expenses while on land.

Newspapermen were invited to make the trip with the Congressmen that there could be publicity for the trip, and pleasant articles written to promote the better understanding between the countries. But later orders have barred the newspapermen from the trip, and restricted it to Congressmen and members of their immediate families. Just who are the Congressmen to make the trip will not be announced, it is said here, until the ship is ready to sail from San Francisco.

CHARGES FRANCE PLOTS WITH REDS OF GERMANY

Berlin Newspaper Terms the Allied Military Demands "Frightful Condition."

BERLIN, June 27.—The German government is keeping secret the contents of the allied note demanding disarmament and reduction of the German army of 100,000 men. The militarist newspaper, Deutsche Zeitung, demands the publication of the documents.

"France is co-operating openly with the Spartacists, and the government should undertake to reveal the frightful conditions that exist," said the Zeitung. The newspaper Neue Berliner declares that the government, "after years of passionate nationalism," fears to reveal the contents of the notes, because the reaction might result in another von Kapp militarist coup.

REDS GOUGE EYES OUT OF PRISONERS

Horrible Atrocities By Bolsheviks Reported to State Department.

Bolshevik atrocities with details of ferocious cruelties toward their prisoners are reported to the State Department yesterday by the American commissioner at Constantinople as having taken place on June 10 at Ivanovka, in southern Russia.

The statement says: "One June 10 at Ivanovka Bolsheviks tortured prisoners and shot a group of thirty officers held there as prisoners. The prisoners were horribly treated by their Bolshevik captors. One reliable witness, Lieutenant Commander Koehler, tells of three cases wherein the hands and feet of the captured officers had been cut off and their eyes gouged out by the Bolsheviks."

General Wrangel, the anti-Bolshevik commander, is reported to be putting into effect one of his new laws for the distribution of all the government land and large estates among the peasants.

ADMIRAL KNAPP RETIRED.

TENNESSEE URGED NOT TO RATIFY SUFFRAGE

RALEIGH, N. C., June 27.—The Southern Rejection League of North Carolina has sent the following telegram to the governor of Tennessee:

"Governor A. H. Roberts, Nashville:

"Do not put suffrage amendment on Southern States which have already rejected it. The people of North Carolina strongly oppose ratification of the Federal amendment."

"SOUTHERN REJECTION LEAGUE."

"Mary Hilliard Hinton, President." Governor Bickett said he had nothing further to add to his statements when he declared he hoped Tennessee would ratify the amendment and save North Carolina the time and money and bitterness it would involve.

U. S. PREPARING TO RECOGNIZE MEXICO

Calderon Arrives Today As Prospective Ambassador From New Government.

Arrival here today of Don Ignacio Calderon, Mexican high commissioner, with rank of ambassador, marks the beginning of speedy preliminaries leading to formal recognition by the United States of the new government in Mexico.

The State Department, it was understood on high authority today, is ready to notify the Mexican government that an envoy representing the Mexican capital is persona grata in Washington. Steps leading to announcement of this Government's position probably will be initiated by Calderon soon after his arrival. The ambassador and his staff will be quartered at the Mexican embassy during their stay in the Capital.

Virtual recognition of the new Mexican government already has been extended by Great Britain, as it became known today that the Mexican foreign minister, following the latter's note of inquiry to London, had been informed by the British foreign secretary that a Mexican ambassador would be "graciously received" by His Majesty at the Court of St. James.

Advices received from Mexico City today indicated that the Mexican ambassador to Great Britain would soon be announced. Following Great Britain's lead, a number of other nations, including France, Italy and China, have gone through certain formalities which usually precede formal recognition of the new Mexican government.

Unofficial advice today told of the unearthing of huge frauds perpetrated under the Carranza regime. The new government, with financial experts at work, has discovered frauds thus far aggregating about $10,000,000, for which Carranza and his aides are held responsible.

The frauds include many instances of actual rifling of the Mexican treasury by some of Carranza's lieutenants, who have fled from the country and whose whereabouts are unknown.

NEW COURT LIMITED TO CASES OF NATIONS

THE HAGUE, June 27.—Only nations and not individuals nor small groups of citizens may bring cases before the proposed international court of justice and arbitration, according to proposals discussed yesterday by the committee of jurists appointed by the League of Nations to form the foundations of the tribunal. It was pointed out, however, that every country has the right to institute proceedings in behalf of its nationals.

This city will be the seat of the permanent court because of its association with international justice through The Hague tribunal.

SHERWOOD FOREST

35 Miles From Washington

The kitchens are kept spotlessly clean, and the meals are delicious. The best cooks in this part of the country are employed and fresh meats and Anne Arundel vegetables and fruits are obtained daily. Only a nominal charge is made for meals served in these spacious community dining halls.

The new community store is stocked with provisions and merchandise for the needs of the householder and particularly for the light housekeeper. To keep it stocked and supplied, daily trips by truck are made to Baltimore and neighboring farms.

Long, winding paths through the woods, trees and ferns of various kinds, many different varieties of birds, all lend their charm and enchantment to this garden spot of America.

There is a newly completed golf course, measured and marked. Four tennis courts have been put into operation, and two more are to be built. A baseball diamond is being constructed.

A long, sandy beach, with salt-water bathing facilities extends around the edge of the property. There are about 80 or 90 canoes and a launch makes a daily trip to Annapolis. Motor Boating, Sailing, Swimming and Diving are provided for.

Forty private garages have been erected for automobiles.

About 5,000 square feet of dancing where the music is rendered by Louis space has been provided at the Club House. Fisher's Orchestra. Playground instruction for the children is available. Summer Camp activities for boys and girls who desire them.

Fresh, pure water is obtained from two artesian wells.

Washington's Vacation Solution

Enjoy a swift ride on the motor boat which runs to Annapolis or glide lazily on the lagoon in a sponson canoe! And all this is to be found within only thirty-five miles of Washington.

Folks no longer take the long trips in crowded trains to the seashore or the mountains or other resorts, miles away. They have discovered a spot in Maryland where everything appeals to the lover of Nature and outdoor activities.

Read the story of what Sherwood Forest is; what it has to offer; then come out and look over the property. You will absolutely be astonished and will wonder that you have stayed away so long.

How to Reach SHERWOOD FOREST

SHERWOOD FOREST may easily be reached over the W., B. & A. Railway lines. Take a car leaving 45th and New York Avenue N. W. every hour, on the hour, and get off at Annapolis Junction. Then board an Annapolis car and leave at Iglehart Station. Our busses meet every train arriving at Iglehart Station, and it is only a fifteen-minute ride from the station to SHERWOOD FOREST.

For those desiring to make a trip by motor, the general route would be as follows: Follow the Annapolis road straight out Pennsylvania Avenue until you reach the top of the last hill; then follow the Marlboro road through Marlboro until you reach Parole; turn to the left at Parole, and SHERWOOD FOREST is 5 miles beyond.

"The heat pours down from the sky and up from the asphalt. The men I meet are wilted and jaded and sullen. But my heart is light. A swift ride and then a plunge in the cool bay, a broad porch whence I look out on green hills and rippling waters, a little wind whispering in the pines, and sleep. Heaven bless the country."
